

Alfred James Pacino,

A hero? No real hero exists nowadays but we can say he's a great man he's an actor, Alfred James Pacino, in art Al Pacino born in 1940 in New York City, of Italian origins.

I admire this person because he managed to fulfil his dream. He had nothing in the start . Al Pacino came from one of the worst neighbourhoods of New York at his time, received nothing from his family. His father had abandoned him in early age but he, starting alone, in the end found himself full of success. The most important movie throughout his career, that made him famous is "the Godfather", in which he was able to show all his acting capacities that he had studied in various school. He made many movies in the 70s and 80s as "quel pomeriggio di un giorno da cani" and "the Godfather: second part", "Scarface" etc. but in the same period we can remember the Godfather , third part. From this moment on he began to have a series of successes. He decided in the end to try as a moviemaker, in which he succeeded with Richard III, a man, a king, which helps us to understand how many qualities this person has and especially how much a person who has nothing and was born in misery, can give. And this is the fact I really appreciate in him, that is a self-made man, and that no one helped him or better, that he has no rich and famous family. This teaches us that when one really wants something, everything is possible!!
