

A lifeguard

The hero that I took into consideration was a professional lifeguard. Everyone will ask what special action he has made. Now I will explain. It was a day of summer but the wind was very strong and the sea was rough, very rough and nobody should be swimming. But two people were swimming and suddenly they were driven off by the current too strong. I saw the lifeguard diving into the rough waters saving the first and immediately after diving again to save the other. Everything seemed finished: the two boys were saved, a little frightened but saved, still something was going to happen because the lifeguard was taken urgently to hospital for a heart attack. He died shortly afterwards in hospital. This happened in my village near Rome. This is my hero: he saved two lives but he lost his own.